

Hearts and Minds: St Paul's College, Sydney University, 1815–2016

by Alan Atkinson

St Paul's College is the original college of The University of Sydney and the oldest institution of its kind in Australia. Its distinctive intellectual and educational traditions go back to the beginning. Here, social historian Alan Atkinson tells the story of St Paul's from the inside, exploring not only the College's traditions and how it has developed since the nineteenth century, but how its students and residents have experienced College life, face-to-face, across the years.

Alan Atkinson is an Australian historian. His publications, which include Camden: Farm and Village Life in Early New South Wales and The Europeans in Australia (three volumes), have been awarded the Ernest Scott Prize (three times), NSW Premier's Awards (twice), Victorian Premier's Literary Awards (twice) and the Victorian Prize for Literature. He taught at the University of New England from 1981 to 2006 and was Senior Tutor of St Paul's College, University of Sydney, from 2010 to 2016.

All proceeds from the sale of this book will be the means of initiating an academic endowment for the College, as part of the new development. The endowment will be used in the first instance for ensuring that the new Library/Study Centre is as close as possible to world-class. We therefore very much welcome the purchase of multiple copies of the College history. Beyond that, you may like to think of the price stated here as a minimum, and in subscribing for your copy or copies to go as far beyond it as you like. In that way the publication of the College history will serve the double purpose of taking the College to an even more remarkable level of academic excellence.

Special pre-publication price of $75 (including postage and handling) on all orders received for Alan Atkinson, Hearts and Minds: St Paul's College, Sydney University, 1815–2016
