

ST PAUL'S COLLEGE

THE UNIVERSITY OF SYDNEY

Warden, St Paul's College

Founded in the 1850's, St Paul's College was Australia's first university college and remains an independent Anglican college for students of the University of Sydney. Set in beautiful grounds, with an impressive list of Rhodes Scholars and national leaders amongst its alumni, St Paul's aims to create a home for the development of intellectual leadership and moral responsibility.

The Warden will be an experienced and inspiring leader – providing a distinct purpose for the future of St Paul's, based on the rich heritage of both the University and the Anglican faith. The Warden will continue to lead the College's program of cultural renewal and further develop the College's recently opened Graduate House and other exciting developments.

The ideal candidate will have appropriate standing in the academic world, leadership experience in an educational institution, as well as a demonstrated passion for the development of a vibrant and modern intellectual community. The Warden will be able to build strong, positive relationships with students and staff as well as stakeholders and other supporters.
