Dear member of St Paul's College community,

We write this letter in support of the College's mid-year Emergency Campaign, to encourage your generosity towards the College and the Foundation at this time of significant need.

In these extraordinary times, we each must do all we can to support the College and its students of the present day. The Emergency Campaign is aimed to help both particular students who will not be able to return to College because of the economic hardship they and their families face as a result of COVID-19, as well as the general operations of the College which have been significantly impacted by students having to depart College because of the pandemic. As a result of the crisis, we understand that the College is now forecasting an operating loss this year of between $2.5 and $5 million.

And so, with ever increasing need and diminishing means, the College's current and future students need your support now more than ever. We therefore strongly encourage you be generous at this time and answer the College's call for donations to its Emergency Campaign.

There is also an opportunity to contribute to the ongoing work of the Foundation, which delivers long-term support to the College through scholarships, bursaries and assistance with long term maintenance of the College's buildings. The Foundation's mid-year appeal is being coupled with the Emergency Campaign in order to continue to provide the opportunity for those who give regularly to the ongoing work of the Foundation.

As always, we remind you that every dollar you give to the Foundation will work forever and all donations to both the Emergency Campaign and the Foundation are fully tax deductible.

So please give generously today.
